COAL CLIMBS AS MERCURY TUMBLES

El Paso Residents Begin to Feel the High Cost of Heating.

El Paso is to feel the high cost of leating. Coal is going up and may keep on the move toward the skyline. GaRup coal is now worth $3 per ton in one ton lots. This is the ordinary domestic coal. However, Dawson coal is now quoted at $7 per ton which is some cheaper.

Tornillo wood, the best fuel wood in this section is selling at the present time at $7 per cord.

Last year the price on coal was $5 per ton, but the wholesale price at the Gallup mines took a jump and of ourse the consumer has to pay the freight. The retailer is not in the business for his health alone, there-fore he tacks the extra dollar on his price for the fuel. While there is some coal on hand in El Paso at the present time, if a sudden cold snap should come some per-sons would suffer, for the supply will quickly be exhausted and shipments are not large as there are few places where it can be stored.

FIRE ORDINANCE FOR CITY. El Paso is to have a new fire ordinance, that step being decided upon at a meeting of the fire and water committee, mayor Kelly and fire marshal H. F. Reynaud, which was held directly after the council meeting Thursday morning.

Mr. Reynaud has obtained copies of the ordinances now in force in a number of other cities, governing the care of explosives and inflamable materials. It is probable that a new ordinance will be presented for consideration at the next meeting of the council.
